

About Sage's Army

Sage's Army, Inc. is a 501(c) 3 organization that began in 2012 following the heroin overdose death of Sage Capozzi.

Sage was only 20 years old when the grips of his addiction took him from his family and friends. Within days of his death, Sage's dad, Carmen Capozzi, with the help of family, and other loved ones started Sage's Army.

The overwhelming shock, despair, and grief associated with the untimely loss of such a young life 5 years ago has transformed into a strong yet intimate group of individuals who continue promoting drug and alcohol awareness by educating individuals and the community through school programs, advocating for legislation, and providing resources.

Sage's Army now has a headquarters located in Irwin, PA which has hosted various events including recovery related activities, Narcan trainings, Family Support Group, Souls United in Grief and will continue to actively pursue ways to promote additional support to individuals, families, and community members who are affected by the drug and alcohol epidemic.
